

SUMMER STUDY

The University offers a broad range of courses as well as special opportunities for study through workshops, conferences, and travel in the summer months. Two or more summer sessions are offered each year, as are online course offerings that span the entire summer. Students wishing to register for more than six credits and/or semester hours per summer session must obtain permission from their department chairpersons and the deans of their colleges.